

Hyperlinks in the MMPI-2-RF Reports (Q Local version 2.8 or higher)

Beginning in Q Local version 2.8, referenced research articles may be accessed using hyperlinks within the MMPI-2-RF report reference list. When clicked, these hyperlinks open the referenced journal articles in a web browser.

A report can be printed, saved as an electronic file (PDF), or viewed on your screen. If you choose to view the report on your screen, the report is displayed in your default browser. When you click on a hyperlink, the web page is displayed in your browser and the report is no longer visible. To navigate back to the report, click a blank area on the web page and then simultaneously select the keys Alt + Left Arrow. Alternatively, when you are viewing the report in the web browser you may simultaneously select the Ctrl + N keys to open the report in a new browser. When you click on the hyperlinks, you will now be able to use the browser's Back button to return to the report.

If you choose to save your report as an electronic file, the report will open in Adobe Reader. When you click on a hyperlink, the web page will open in a new browser and the report will remain available.
